Foundations of Emergency Management

Course Description

FEMA recognizes the need to tie training programs to an established set of emergency management competencies and to a Career Development Program through a progressive training and education system that includes the entry-level Academy, called the National Emergency Management Basic Academy. Training objectives for this course are based on the newly established emergency manager competencies that the National Emergency Management Association; the International Association of Emergency Managers; and state, local, tribal, and territorial emergency management professionals have established in coordination with EMI.

The following topics in emergency management are covered in the course: history; legal issues; intergovernmental and interagency context; influencing and organizing; social vulnerability issues; managing stress; collaboration, preparedness, and team-building; mitigation, response, prevention, and protection; ethical decision-making; recovery; technology; administration; and the future.

Course Goal

At completion of this course, students will have a basic knowledge of the history of doctrine and authorities of emergency management, the role of the emergency manager, and an overview of all hazards.

Audience

This course is intended for newly appointed emergency managers from federal, state, local, tribal, and territorial emergency management agencies and prospective professionals transferring from another discipline to emergency management.
