The Public Private Partnership Security and Resilience Seminar Series Returns for Another Year

BOISE, ID – The Idaho Office of Emergency Management (IOEM) is excited to announce the 2024 Public Private Partnership Security and Resilience Seminar Series, an educational initiative aimed at enhancing community preparedness and resilience. Sponsored by IOEM, this series is a collaborative effort with the Oregon Department of Emergency Management, Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency \(CISA\), and Albertsons Companies, involving volunteer speakers with lived experience on key business and industry security and resilience topics.

Building on the success of the 2023 PSPR2 Seminar Series, which attracted widespread international participation, the 2024 series promises to deliver an even more dynamic and informative program. Featuring subject matter experts from industry, academia, and government sectors, the series will cover critical infrastructure best practices, lessons learned, and introduce valuable preparedness resources and tools to mitigate risk and enhance resilience.

The four-part series will dive into a diverse range of topics, including an introduction to violence prevention strategies and resources, the safety and security impacts of houselessness on businesses and organizations, and two seminars focusing on the rapidly growing field of artificial intelligence. Participants can expect to gain invaluable insights and practical knowledge from each session, with the flexibility to attend individual courses or the entire series.

The schedule for the 2024 seminar series is as follows:

- Session 1: May 9 – Introduction to Violence Prevention Strategies and Resources
- Session 2: June 13 – The Safety and Security Impacts of Houselessness on Businesses and Organizations
- Session 3: September 12 – Safely Leveraging Artificial Intelligence in the Workplace
- Session 4: October 10 – Emerging Cybersecurity Threats: Preparing for the Malicious Use of Artificial Intelligence

Courses are not cumulative and may be taken individually. Each course counts toward continuing education with CEU credits.
